So ... from 2021, I will put my compendium on a shelf. The compendium has dominated my time ultimately and I want to make maps again, update my meeting + GM screen, and finally finish my atlas of Exandria. Keep an eye on the site to get more information about new projects and resources. Thank you and if you have any questions, do not hesitate to ask. Run the merger with your collection in place, it is ready to build your compendium by merging the fonts together. Here is an example, running XMLLINT at the upper level of the repository, using the Compendium scheme to validate an XML file in fonts: XMLLINT --NOOUT --SCHEMA UTILITIES / Compendium.xsd Fightclub5Exml / Sources / coreBooks.xml Build your own Compendium Create a collection file is an XML file that lists what sources you would like to merge into your personalized compendium. This repository is not an application in yourself, but you can use it to build your own custom compendium (see below). When selecting sources for a compendium, the merger finds classes with labels matching and adds the tags at the end. Last update aid center on July 21, 2021. This truly terrible year comes to an end, I am happy to announce that this will be the final liberation of my private compendium .OK, calming and keep the fork . I probably started in that effort once you have clarified my current backwardness. What will I do? I have great plans for 2021, but I'm not ready to share them. Adding a font A new material is added to D & D 5e quite frequently, especially through unearthed arcana that are normally used for beta tests. Classes and spells, are merged when their names match, making it easier to add subclasses without modifying existing sources. Creating XML files of all official D&D sources compatible with Fight Club 5e and Game Master 5e apps for iOS and Android. Keeping each source in its own file makes it easier to add new content and select which sources you want to include in your Compendium. At the same time leÀÀÀm cracking open a book and typing, theyeÀÀÀre pulling data automatically from 5e Tools, formatting it for Fight Club 5, and splitting up the content by source, leÀÀÀm going to continue to maintain my compendium for my current players, but will only be adding new content to be used in my active campaigns. Each source is like its own Compendium, and could potentially be imported on its own, with two exceptions (classes and spells) which are explained below. See the Fight Club Import Tutorial for the format of each element, or use our existing sources as a foundation. I also have a lot of projects I need to finish up and deliver. Spells in the Fight Club compendium, spell lists are defined by the spell, not the class. Eventually, leÀÀÀll switch to a custom FightClub5eXML compendium.As for my Compendium page, I will be redesigning it soon to focus on my own creations and ports of open content. For future updates, I recommend checking out the FightClub5eXML project on GitHub.Why FightClub5eXML?While the FightClub5eXML project and I started about the same time and from the same source materials, they have really kicked things into overdrive lately. The name of the collection file will be the name of the final Compendium. It didn't take long to discover we all had something to gain (namely free-time) from working together. This can be done without modifying the original spell by adding only the name and new class in your source XML. The schema files are in the Utilities folder. It must follow this format: You can have one or more tags. Execute this line in your shell at the top level of the repo: for i in Collections/* .xml; do xsltproc -o FightClub5eXML/Si Utilities/merge.xslt $i; done This is the same line that is executed in our .travis.yml and will place all combined Compendiums in FightClub5eXML/Collections/ During the Compendium merge, the value of is concatenated to any matching spells. WeeÀÀÀve detected that JavaScript is disabled in this browser. My process is labor-intensive and slow, theirs is automated and fast. You can also check out the schema we use for validation in Utilities/compendium.xsd. Contributing If you'd like to contribute, feel free to fork the repository and submit pull requests with your changes. You can see a list of supported browsers in our Help Center. Subclasses Adding a subclass in Fight Club is as easy as adding new tags to a class. If you want to add a spell to a class list, you would need to modify the spell's tag. Barbarian .... Dropbox no longer hosts the compiled compendiums, so it must be built manually with the instructions below or found somewhere else. The files in Collections define which sources are merged into their own Compendium XML. Each doc must reference an xml file with a root element. Please enable JavaScript or switch to a supported browser to continue using twitter.com. We are no longer accepting manual changes to the XML source files because these files are now generated from an external source. Development The XML files in the FightClub5eXML directory are Compendiums organized by source book. New source: Acid Artificer Resulting merge with original source: Acid Splash 0 C ....
